Hilton Waikoloa Village members ratify new three-year contract

HILO—The Hilton Waikoloa Village ILWU negotiating committee met on October 30, 2013, at the ILWU Hall at 100 West Lanikaula Street in Hilo to review and check the new contract for any errors before sending it for signature by the union and the company.

The union committee makes sure the new contract correctly contains all the agreements made during negotiations and no other section of the contract has been omitted or altered.

There have been cases where management or their attorneys have changed the language or left out sections of the contract without talking about these changes with the union. It has long been standard practice for the union’s negotiating committees to compare every word of the new contract with the old contract to make sure every section of the contract is correct.

The Hilton Waikoloa Village is located on the Kohala Coast of the Big Island and features 1,240 guest rooms and suites. The hotel was built in 1988 and employs more than 700 ILWU members.

The ratification was held September 25, 2013, at the Hotel and the Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) was approved overwhelmingly. The duration of the new contract is three years with a 2.5% wage increase each year. Other improvements include a substantial increase in the contributions to the pension plan, and increases in premiums for roll away bed and extra room in the housekeeping department.

In a show of solidarity, the negotiating committee from the Grand Wailea Resort

Hotel & Spa—which is also a Hilton resort—participated in the negotiation meetings.

Members of the negotiating committee are as follows: Chairperson Steven Hoffmann, 1st Vice-Chairperson Mark Liebl, 2nd Vice-Chairperson Dallas Holeso-Kuhaiki, 3rd Vice-Chairperson Michael DelaCruz, Secretary/Unit Bulletin Editor Janice Barrios, Treasurer Freda Ezzo, Michael Chrinko, Daverick Feliciano, Rochelle Javillo, Sarah Kaoo-Lavea, Wesley “Virgil” Martinez, and spokesperson/Business Agent Corinna Salmo.

The Harriet Bouslog Labor Scholarship Fund helps to transform communities, one student at a time

Alma M. O. Trinidad, the eldest of five children, loved school but never thought she would go to college—let alone be a social work professor at Portland State University.

Both of Alma's parents were employed by Del Monte Corporation. Alma's father Pedro worked as a driver, a drip operator, and a luna. Alma's mother Sionita worked in the fields as a pineapple picker. Her maternal and paternal grandfathers also worked for Del Monte on Molokai.

This is Alma's account of how the ILWU helped in their struggles as Filipino immigrants:

"When I was 13 years old, my parents worked for Del Monte Corporation on Molokai and faced the closure of their plantation. I recall how devastated my parents and other family friends were. The work they did at Del Monte was the only type of work they knew since immigrating to Hawaii. I remember the long, stressful conversations my parents had. Although at the time I could not grasp the impact of Del Monte's closure on the community, my parents would talk about how the union was instrumental in advocating for the workers and making sure that they received a solid severance package. Additionally, I learned that the union helped workers to transfer to another Del Monte location. With the union's efforts, my parents were able to relocate to Del Monte Kunia in the late 1980s.

"Del Monte Kunia closed its business in 2008, and again my parents and family friends were impacted by the shutdown. By then, I had become a social worker and had gone back to school for my doctorate in social welfare. The union once again was instrumental in making sure workers' rights were not violated during the closure, and helped workers maintain affordable housing. At this point, because I kept in touch with the union's social worker, I knew about some of the issues. The union continues to be a vital organization for promoting justice, especially in the agriculture and service industries."

Alma received a Harriet Bouslog Labor Scholarship in 1993 that helped her to pursue a higher education. She says, "If it weren't for this scholarship fund, I would not have been able to successfully complete my undergraduate degree in social work. I had little or no financial resources. Coming from a low income background, attending a four year university immediately after graduating from high school was almost impossible.

"The research I did when I was a high school graduate is now a part of my memories. The research was the start of a lifelong journey to learn more about the union that took care of my parents and others in the community who worked in the pineapple industry. Since earning this scholarship, my quest to learn about social justice and social change has been strong. I became a social worker to advocate for the rights of those less fortunate, including communities like immigrants and refugees. I've come to appreciate the role of labor unions throughout history, including in the civil rights movement. In light of capitalism and neo-liberal policies, working conditions have worsened. The rights of workers continue to be undermined, and companies can easily take advantage of individual workers. I believe labor unions are needed more than ever and must work with other community-based, non-profit organizations to address the needs of the working class.

"This scholarship and union have instilled in me an appreciation of the collective spirit. Now that I am a professor, I belong to a union. I find my union to be my watchdog with regard to my rights as a worker. I am no different than my parents who worked in the pineapple industry. Although I am a professional, I believe the union plays an important role in my life. All workers need a way to address issues related to their work and the workplace, as well as assure fair treatment and good working conditions so they can thrive."

Alma's message to ILWU members is:

"Please continue to share your personal stories with your family, children and community. The ILWU has a strong legacy of community and social justice in Hawaii. These stories need to be preserved and passed on to the next generation so strong values will not be forgotten. I am extremely thankful for the Bouslog scholarship fund and the ILWU. I attempt to carry on the legacy of Harriet Bouslog and her work with the ILWU in my own work as a Pinay scholar. Maraming salamatpo, agyamanak, mahalo nui loa, kopjai, and my deepest gratitude!"

“Topy” Miyashiro shoots 79 to take the 60th Annual ILWU Statewide Golf Tournament

LIHUE—With only 22 golfers, the 60th Annual ILWU Statewide Golf Tournament was one of the smallest, in terms of participation, but scored big by bringing ILWU members together. Local 200 President John Bush flew all the way from Alaska to tee-up. This year’s tournament, hosted by Kauai Division, was played at Puakea Golf Course on October 12, 2013. The awards luncheon followed.

Kauai Division Business Agent and Co-Sports Coordinator Doreen Kua got to work announcing the winners and awarding the prizes to the golfers with the best scores. Philip “Topy” Miyashiro from Unit 3515 - St. Regis Princeville, shot 79 to take the Fred Paulino Memorial Trophy for Overall Low Gross. Topy also took the “A” Flight. Trenton Camat from Unit 3504 Princeville Resort (Golf Course) shot a net 60 to take the Francis I. Brown Memorial Trophy for Overall Low Net. Trenton was also a double winner, as he took the “C” Flight.

Individual Winners

In the “B” Flight, Dan Jarquio from Kauai won first place with a net score of 69. Dennis Dato from Kauai was second with 70. Robert Abigania from Kauai was third with 71.

In the “C” Flight, Trenton Camat won first place. Rick Ham Young from Kauai was second with 66. Alan Dato from Kauai was third with 69.

The Puakea Golf Course employs 12 members of ILWU Unit 3403, including the mechanics, chemical applicators, ground section persons, weeders and other ground maintenance workers.

The tournament and awards luncheon were organized by Kauai Division Co-Sports Coordinators Doreen Kua and Pam Green; Kauai Division Director Michael Machado, Hawaii Division Sports Coordinator Corinna Salmo; and Statewide Sports Coordinator/Oahu Division Sports Coordinator Brian Tanaka.

The golf tournament, like all ILWU sports programs, is open to all ILWU Local 142 members in good standing and their spouses, pensioners and their spouses, dependent children attending school full-time, and members of the ILWU office staff and their spouses. Call your Division Office or visit <http://ilwulocal142.org/blog/division-sports-coordinators> for information on how you can get in on the action.

Philip “Topy” Miyashiro from Unit 3515 - St. Regis Princeville won the Overall Low Gross award by shooting a 79 for the one-day tournament and lead the “A” Flight.

Trenton Camat of Unit 3504 - Princeville Resort Golf won both the “C” Flight and Overall Low Net awards. Trenton (above with Kauai Sports Co-Coordinator Doreen Kua) will have his name inscribed on the Francis I. Brown Memorial Trophy.

Founding President of the ILWU

George Bugarin—a loyal, dedicated leader

George Bugarin, retired business agent from Maui Division, passed away on October 25, 2013, just one month after being diagnosed with cancer. He was 73 years old.

George was born and raised on Maui and enlisted in the Army just out of high school. He became a member of the ILWU when he started working for Brewer Chemical in 1966 and stayed with the C. Brewer subsidiary for 25 years. During that time, he was active in the ILWU, serving as unit chair for most of his tenure with the company. While quiet and unassuming, George was an effective leader and stood up to management when needed.

In recognition of his sure and steady qualities, George was appointed as a Division Representative in 1991 and later elected as business agent, serving ILWU members working for companies on Maui. When asked why he sought the position, George said he liked to help people and thought being a business agent would be a way to do that. Always loyal to the ILWU, George represented both the union and his members proudly.

George particularly enjoyed his role as sports coordinator for Maui Division. An avid golfer, George took pleasure in setting up golf tournaments for ILWU members. When he retired in 2003, George and his union buddies, Willie Kennison and Mark Ueki, continued to golf on a regular basis.

In his retirement, George was tapped to serve on the Board of the ILWU Memorial Association. He was also elected President of the Central Maui ILWU Pensioner Club, one of the largest clubs in the ILWU State Pensioner Association. George also presided over the State Association's biennial conference in 2012, bringing together representatives from more than 20 clubs to Maui. In his calm, deliberate way, George managed all the conference activities, including arranging for hotel accommodations at an ILWU house, Maui Beach Hotel.

George also continued, even into retirement, to represent the ILWU on the Board of Hale Mahaolu, a nonprofit organization that owns and manages affordable rental housing for elderly individuals and families. As a Full-Time Official, George served on the State Pesticide Advisory Council because of his background in pesticides from his work at Brewer Chemical.

George's passing so quickly took his family by surprise, but they surrounded him with love and helped him to find peace in his final days. He was blessed with a loving family—his wife, Janet "Mapu," who retired this year from Times Supermarket (formerly Star Market), where she was chair of the ILWU bargaining unit, and their three children, 10 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

George Bugarin will be remembered as a loyal, dedicated union member, good friend, and devoted family man. He will be missed in his role with the Maui pensioners and the ILWU Memorial Association, but his legacy will live on as a union member for others to emulate.

Remembering Antone Kahawaiolaa Jr.

Antone Kahawaiolaa, Jr. had a long name that some could not pronounce and most did not use. To almost everyone in the ILWU, he was known simply and fondly as Tony K. On October 4, 2013, at the age of 88, Tony K passed away, almost 25 years after retiring from the ILWU as an International Representative.

Tony K began his affiliation with the ILWU in 1942, working as a machine operator and a member of ILWU Local 36 in Hilo. At that time, the ILWU was made up of several locals (for longshore, sugar, pineapple) but was consolidated into a single local in 1952. From 1943 to 1950, Tony held various jobs and was a delegate (the equivalent of a steward on board a ship) for the Marine Firemen and Watertenders Union.

In 1950, he began working as a heavy equipment operator by Brewer Chemical, a subsidiary of C. Brewer and now known as BEI, which made him a full dues-paying ILWU member. Tony became active in the Brewer Chemical bargaining unit and served as vice chair for many years. Tony also served on the Local Executive Board and the International Executive Board, where he developed lifelong friendships with West Coast brothers and sisters. Tony was even selected by the ILWU as an overseas delegate to Ethiopia in 1972 to foster solidarity between U.S. and Ethiopian workers.

In 1964, Tony ran for and was elected to the position of business agent for Oahu Division. He was a business agent for 20 years until 1984 when he was appointed as an International Representative, a position he held until his retirement in 1990.

As an International Rep, Tony was known as a troubleshooter to negotiate contracts, quell problems in the units, and fire up the membership. Tony also handled arbitration appeals, worked on special projects for Hawaii Regional Director Tommy Trask, and helped organize in the sugar and automotive industries.

Tony was never an "all work and no play" kind of guy. He enjoyed the company of his union friends, having a few beers and playing a few rounds of golf. He was committed 100% to the union and his work—but he also knew how to unwind and share laughter and conversation with his union brothers and sisters.

Tony was blessed with a loving family that gave him the opportunity to spend so much time with the ILWU. When he retired, he made up for lost time and devoted himself to his wife Momi and his children and grandchildren. They remember his retirement years fondly, with Grandpa Tony babysitting the grandkids and watching them grow up.

Tony was active with the ILWU even after his retirement as an early member of the ILWU Memorial Association board of directors. He also helped found the Pau Hana pensioner club and served as an ILWU representative on the Board of the Hawaii Council for Senior Citizens, which later became known as the Hawaii Alliance for Retired Americans.

Tony K will be remembered as a handsome Hawaiian with a calm demeanor, fun spirit, gentle smile, and true dedication to the ILWU.
